

State University Temporary Modular Construction Office

Petersburg, VA

The Challenge

A large state university in Virginia was undergoing campus expansion with several construction projects operating concurrently, and needed office space for workers involved in the construction efforts on site. They chose a new temporary modular office, as they needed something right away, and they wanted something new.

The Solution

Modular Genius, Inc. had a brand new 1,440 sq. ft. temporary modular office unit available and was able to deliver the modular office to site within a week of award. The modular office featured four private offices, two single occupant restrooms, and an open office space.
